Over twenty years of celebrating the Nordic games industry

Nordic Game turns 21 this year. We primarily organise game industry events, serving as a key resource for inspiration, knowledge sharing, networking and deal-making within the Nordic, European and global games industries

First in game development in the 1990s, Nordic Game then turned to working for the industry, such as by designing and running a games industry development program for the Nordic Co-operation. In 2004 we also established a yearly conference where the Nordic game companies could learn from each other, promote their many talents and discuss how to get even better at creating games.

This year Nordic Game celebrates our twenty-first anniversary, together with our world-renowned Nordic games industry, and colleagues and partners from the global game development community. Join us!

NG25 Spring on 20-23 May expects over 3,000 to attend (2022: 2,470; 2023: 2,780; 2024: 2,810)

The top reasons for joining us all at Nordic Game:

Facts, figures and a few testimonials

We were first to document the extraordinary rise of the Nordic games industry. Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden continue to lead the world in games industry share of their work forces. It's a specialty we have here.

We've built Europe's leading games industry conference thanks in large part to the Nordic region's successes, as well as core values of responsible and empathetic entrepreneurship.

We work hard to remain the world's largest independent game developer conference, by promoting and supporting game startups and growing studios in the region and across the globe.

We are the most relevant gathering each year for those of you looking to connect with the best and brightest game developers in the world.

"I would absolutely recommend anyone to attend Nordic and sponsor events there. It is one of the highest performing trade shows for us in terms of numbers."
– Aiman Seksembaeva, Xsolla

"Nordic Game gives us the opportunity to meet with a group of developers we don't find many other opportunities to meet with in the US. Scandinavia has an amazing game developer constituency, and we just wouldn't get to meet with these people at our usual US-based events."
– Andrew Vaughan, Dolby
